Dear Families,

I need to give you some important updates before the half term break.

INSET days

As a school we are starting to work with our cluster partners and external partners to plan our INSET days next year. I promised I would let you know as soon as possible so that you can make arrangements. We have 6 INSET days next year and we have booked 5 of them in the first term!

Thursday 2nd of September

Friday 3rd of September

Monday 27th of September

Friday 15th of October

Monday 1st of November

As always we have tried to add the dates to holidays or weekends to help families have an extended weekend or holiday.

Don't forget we have an INSET day in the first week back-Friday the 11th of June and the 2 dates in July, the 19th and 20th.

Next year

We have received some queries from parents and the children are starting to talk and become anxious about the class arrangements for next year. As always, we have carefully considered options and we have made the decision to put all the children into straight year groups with no mixing next year. We realise for some parents this may be welcome news, others may have concerns. I have tried to get this letter out to you today so you can speak to us tomorrow if you have any concerns and not worry during half term. We can also work together to prepare the children for the changes ahead.

I would like to reassure you that we have an excellent teaching team and we know your children really well. We always ensure the needs of every child are met regardless of the class they are in.

Walk to School Week

Can we just thank you all for joining in with the National Walk to School Week. The winners were year 6, Dosbarth Eryri with a whopping 82% of the class walking to and from school. They were really disappointed not to get a higher percentage but if you remember, we had a small monsoon on the Friday of that week which dropped their percentage considerably. Thank you to everyone who participated.

Parking

Parking continues to be an issue outside the school and as such, I am working alongside our community partners to try and organise a site meeting at the school with representatives from RCT. I will keep you informed of the progress.

Finally

I was looking back through the Facebook posts from the last half term. What a busy few weeks we have had! The children are loving our new Inquiry based approach and we have had a fantastic half term learning about our planet together. Have a lovely week with your families in the sun next week and we look forward to seeing you after the half term.

As always, please get in touch if you need us

Mrs FD.
